

RB062 Off Land Commute Cover

Let's go back to 2006.

I used to hate my job, the dead-end brainless work. Even more, I used to hate my commute. An hour by subway what would take 20 minutes by car if I had owned one. Everyday I walked to the subway, switching lines in town and took 2nd line to the end. I dreamed that one day the subway would take me past the last stop, just keep going. Or maybe I would end up somewhere else, somewhere new. Music was my salvation, my soundtrack, those two hours each day. With or without music the commute was a score I listened to countless times. On two occasions, for posterity, I recorded the commute. Now it's 2009 and my life has changed so much. I look back into the dust of times and accompany a soundtrack to those days of travel..... This was my commute.

commute, part 1
commute, part 2
commute, part 3

restingbell.net/
full-source.com/offland/
myspace.com/offlandmusic
twitter.com/FullSourceMusic

